■ SANBAG celebrates continuation of Measure I

Board members, staff and visitors wrapped up the final meeting of 2004 with a celebration of the November 2 renewal of Measure I. Meeting attendees enjoyed cake decorated with the Measure I logo and imprinted with the reminder, "Measure I: Local funds for local projects."

Board President Paul Biane and Vice President Kelly Chastain cut cake to celebrate the renewal of Measure I.

With all of the provisional and absentee ballots counted, 80.03% of county voters approved Measure I, the highest level of support for a transportation sales tax measure statewide. (See page 2 for additional measure statistics).

Executive Director Norm King also congratulated representatives from the cities with the greatest voter support for Measure I -- Rialto, Colton and Grand Terrace. Rialto voters approved Measure I by an 83.7% majority; Colton voters approved the measure by an 83.6% majority; and Grand Terrace by an 83.5% majority. King also acknowledged the dramatic increase in support from the mountain and desert communities. In 1989, the mountain/desert jurisdictions averaged 49.9% support; in 2004, all achieved at least 75% approval.

■ Board thanks members for longtime SANBAG service

Elections bring change, and the 2004 election brought plenty of it to the Board of Directors. SANBAG President Paul Biane thanked outgoing members for their service to the Board and presented each with a plaque. Recognized were:

- Edward "Ted" Burgnon, Town of Apple Valley
- Neal Hertzmann, City of Big Bear Lake
- Eunice Ulloa, City of Chino
- Kurt Wilson, City of Rialto
- Jim Bagley, City of Twentynine Palms
- Clifford Young, County of San Bernardino
- Patti Aguiar, County of San Bernardino

New SANBAG Board members will be installed at the January meeting, pending selection of representatives by council members.

■ Route 71 landscaping work to get back on track

The landscaping project along Route 71 through Chino and Chino Hills will get a fresh start next year.

Reyco Erosion Control, which was hired to install irrigation and electrical systems and plants in 2001, did not complete the work. Reyco's insurance carrier declined to proceed with the work, thus requiring SANBAG to advertise for a new construction contractor. Advertising will start in a few weeks for the new contract, which will total approximately $500,000.

In conjunction with the new contract, the SANBAG Board approved amending a contract with EPT Design to update design plans, analyze irrigation and electrical work performed to date, and to salvage all plants possible from the previous work. The contract amendment will total $26,240.

In addition, the Board approved increasing a purchase order with P&D Consultants to provide construction management services for the project. The purchase order will be increased by $50,000 -- from $25,000 to $75,000 -- to cover management services for the site work.

Certified results are in ... 80.03% vote for Measure I

Support for Measure I ranges from 75.1% to 83.7%

The San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors has certified the 2004 election returns, and the Measure I story has an even happier ending, with 80.03% of the voters in support of the continuation of the half-cent sales tax for transportation improvements. Last month's Street Smart, which was published November 3, reported that 79.44% of the voters favored Measure I. Absentee and provisional ballots bumped the total beyond 80%, as of November 30.

This month's issue of Measuring Success offers a look at Measure I returns by jurisdiction and provides a comparison to the 1989 election results.

Results from the November 1989 Measure I election show a different story. Only a simple majority approval was required at that time; Measure I was approved by a 59.7% majority. Some jurisdictions, however, did not achieve a simple majority in this election.
